

Salvation Army Welcomed New Commander

Enthusiasm Aroused in Work of Local Officers in Their Humanitarian Efforts in Pass Towns.

The local corps of the Salvation Army enthusiastically welcomed the new divisional commander for Alberta, Brigadier Ursaki, on Thursday last, on his first visit to Coleman. In the afternoon he addressed a large group of children in the Army hall, and at 5.30 p.m. a supper was served in the Nazarene church hall at which were presented a number of townspeople specially invited by Captain Watson and Lieut. Weddell, local officers, who took over the local corps on July 1. Mayor Pattinson was unable to be present owing to illness, and in his place a welcome was extended by H. E. Halliwell, who referred to the international work of the Salvation Army in practically every country of the world since it was founded in London, Eng., by General William Booth. Its years of service was a monument to the founder which had developed far beyond the most optimistic vision of the general and his family, and the work was being carried on by faithful officers and soldiers in behalf of peoples of all lands, regardless of creed, color or religion.

Rev. Leonard Falk, pastor of the Nazarene church, joined in the welcome to the brigadier, remarking that his church and the Army were good neighbors.

Miss Violet Knowles, not without a touch of humor, extended a welcome on behalf of the younger people, and also asked that their good wishes be extended to Mrs. Ursaki, who had been unable to accompany her husband on his visit to the Pass towns.

The brigadier in reply gave a glimpse of his years of service since he joined the Salvation Army in Regina, he having been to England twice on important missions for the Army, and having served as divisional commander in Ontario. Also for some time he served in New Brunswick, and he related some moving experiences in dealing with inmates of Dorchester penitentiary as prison chaplain.

Lieutenant Weddell spoke of the joy of being able to welcome their new divisional commander, and trusted he would make frequent visits here. Rev. and Mrs. John R. Hague and Dr. Rose were among the guests, and Mr. Hague pronounced the benediction at the close of the evening.

A vote of thanks was given to the ladies, under Mrs. Perry and her daughter, for the fine supper provided. Mrs. Rhodes, of Bellevue, who has served in the Army for the time lived in Nova Scotia till the present, and who now is in charge of the Home Women's League, spoke of the loyalty and whole-heartedness of her band of willing workers.

Immediately following the supper, an open-air service was held prior to the evening meeting in the Army hall, which was addressed by Brigadier Ursaki and Rev. John R. Hague. It terminated a very interesting visit and the local officers are to be commended for the part they took in the welcome and also their willing band of workers.

Elidio Salvador Injured In Truck Accident

Elidio Salvador is spending a week or two in hospital as the result of a nasty accident last week, when the truck he was working with was caught by a gust of wind and hurled over the cliff just west of Carbondale. He had partially unloaded a load of gravel, with the body of the truck elevated when the full force of the west wind caught it and caused it to turn over several times towards the river. It came to a stop before reaching the water, and eye-witnesses at a distance were surprised to see the driver crawl from the cab. The damage caused almost a total loss of the truck, which will be replaced by Mr. Salvador with a new one for his trucking business.

Red Cross Campaign

Districts and Committees Appointed for Complete Canvass of Town to Raise $1,000.

A meeting of the general committee of the Red Cross Society was held on Monday evening in the council chamber, twenty members present. Wilfrid Dutil, chairman of the finance and campaign committee, presided.

The town was divided into eight districts for the national campaign to raise $3,000,000, which opens on Monday, Nov. 13, and for which Coleman aims to raise $1,000. The districts and those appointed to make the canvass are as follows:

District No. 1, West Coleman: W. Martland; Mrs. Andrew Halluk, Ukrainian Society; Mrs. W. Chukla, Polish Society.

District No. 2, Carbondale: W. Kubic, Adam Morris, junior.

District No. 3, Second Street, from Central: T. McCloy, Angelo Toppa, J. Salvador.

District No. 4, 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Streets, from Central Avenue to the river: Mrs. C. F. Dunlop, Mrs. T. Holstead, Mrs. R. H. Campbell.

District No. 5, 5th, 6th and 7th Streets: Mrs. H. Claxton, Mrs. Edgar Reid, Mrs. Halliwell.

District No. 6, Grafton: Mrs. W. L. Rippon, Mrs. Macgregor, Mrs. J. Lant, Mrs. H. Sherratt, Mrs. Arisbon.

District No. 7, East Coleman, north of the river: H. T. Halliwell, Mrs. Joe Janostak, Mr. Opulski, M. Joyce.

District No. 8, East Coleman, south of river: W. Dutil, S. Ewenack, Mac Stigler, Koller.

A general committee meeting, to which all are invited who would like to assist in the work of the local branch, will be held in the council chamber on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock.

A donation of $5.00 was made by the Ukrainian Society, per Steve Ewenack and A. Holyk, who stated the Society was ready to help in the work of the branch.

BADMINTON CLUB MEETING

The Coleman Badminton Club held a well attended meeting at the Grand Union hotel on Sunday last.

The last season's operations were shown to be very successful and plans for the coming season were made. It was decided to commence play on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m.

Officers of the club remain the same as last season, i.e., president, Reg. Jones; secretary, Miss Jean McDonald.

The temperature took a nose-dive on Tuesday night to eleven below zero, as recorded by Reg. Jones, meteorologist at the International Coal Company.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT—ALMOST

At 4.30 a.m. Monday, the chef at the Coleman Cafe returned home on the bus from a visit to Calgary. The street lights were out, the town was in a blackout, but he noticed a gleam of a flashlight in the cafe as he approached. Thinking at first it might be someone employed there, he was surprised on looking through the front door to catch a glimpse of a burglar about to try the cash register. He immediately went upstairs to arouse Ben Chow, the proprietor. On their descent to the cafe, they found the front door open, through which the burglar made a hurried exit. Examination revealed he had broken in through a window of the kitchen, tearing away the wire covering and breaking the glass.

He was a tall man, stated the chef, but as soon as he saw the chef looking through the window, he ducked below the counter. It is the second attempted burglary at the Coleman Cafe.

Frequency of break-ins of late shows the necessity of more adequate police patrolling during the night.

CLOTHES WANTED

The Salvation Army frequently receives requests from those in distressed circumstances for all kinds of clothing, including underwear. Persons having any suitable for this purpose would confer a service by notifying the local officers, Captain Watson or Lieutenant Weddell.

Funeral of William Lees

Many Attend on Sunday Afternoon; Masonic Rites Observed at Graveside.

On Sunday afternoon many friends gathered at the home and at St. Paul's United church to attend the funeral services of William Lees, resident here since 1912, whose death was recorded on Thursday last, at the age of 69 years. In addition to the church service, the committal service of the Masonic order, of which deceased was a member, was conducted by Mr. Sidney C. Short, worshipful master of Summit Lodge, A. F. & A. M., many members of the Pass lodges attending.

Rev. H. J. Bevan, minister of the United church, paid tribute to the sterling qualities of deceased, who had been a faithful member of the church for years, being active at various times on its board, and had been organist until ill-health overcame him. He took his responsibilities seriously, and several years ago shared in the task of municipal government as a member of the town council.

The hymns sung were "The Sands of Time are Sinking" and "Abide With Me," Mr. Emerson playing the organ accompaniments. The pallbearers, old friends of the family, were T. Flynn, W. Fraser, W. Chapman, W. Roughhead, George Morgan and R. M. Greenhead. Many floral tributes were laid on the grave from friends and various organizations.

The chief mourners were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lees, Miss Gladys Lees, Mr. Albert Bastian, of Hinton, Alta., brother of Mrs. Lees; Mr. Jack Painter, of Hinton, nephew of Mrs. Lees; Mr. and Mrs. James Litter, of Blainmore; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oakes, of Blainmore, and Mrs. Williams, of Blainmore.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all for expressions of sympathy received in our bereavement and for the beautiful floral offerings on the death of our beloved husband and father, to Rev. H. J. Bevan for his kindness, and to Dr. Rose and hospital staff. — MRS. WILLIAM LEES AND FAMILY.

Wreaths and Sprays—Mrs. W. Lees and Gladys; Fred, Mary and children; A. Bastian, J. Painter, Hinton; Mr. and Mrs. R. Oakes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oakes, Mrs. William Oakes, Bobby and Edith, Blainmore; Mr. and Mrs. J. Litter and family, Michel; Officers and Members of Cascade Lodge No. 5, A. F. & A. M.; Banff; Allen Peter and family, Vancouver.

Town Council Ponders Various Local Problems

Many Matters Discussed, Including Requests for Jobs, Relief, and Status of "Squatters" on Lake Property.

PROVINCIAL GOVT. SUGGESTS LEASE CANCELLATION

Meeting of council held in council chamber on Tuesday evening; present Deputy Mayor Antrobus, Councillors White, Kerr and Chapman.

Alex. Easton was present and protested council's action in appointing an outsider to a civic office (town secretary-treasurer), when there remained unemployed taxpayers in town. He stated there had been much criticism of the council's action and that some local business houses had followed the example of the council in employing out-of-town people. He stated that his application for the above mentioned position had not received fair consideration. He pointed to the fact that he was a returned soldier, a resident and taxpayer for a large number of years, and had given his services to community enterprises. He had been unemployed five years, only getting the odd job to help him. He had been unemployed when he placed the application for the civic vacancy. Now that the job was again vacant, he wanted to know what his chances were to secure the position. Deputy Mayor Antrobus stated that his protest would be discussed at a full meeting of the council and an answer given him.

A letter was received from Edmonton, listing the duties of a health officer. It was filed.

A letter was received from the local doctors, stating that the Danyluk and Malanchuk cases were no responsibility of theirs. The letter was filed.

Salvation Army was permitted to sponsor a tag day on Saturday, Oct. 28, in aid of the War Time Emergency Work.

The Polish Society was granted permission to solicit at the bank on Saturday for a fund to aid overseas Polish people.

Two letters were received from Edmonton re the recreational ground at Crows' Nest Lake. The council was frankly told that they had exceeded their authority in permitting persons to build on this ground. The government would willingly cancel the town's contract with them re this ground, but first they were expected to issue orders to all persons with homes on the ground to vacate immediately.

The secretary was asked to list all persons owning property in the vicinity of the lake and to present it at the next meeting.

A letter was received from the miners' association and the local branch of the Canadian Legion. It stated that the two organizations were petitioning the local coal companies and Coleman Light & Water Co. to supply free of charge, light, water and fuel to the families of all employees now engaged in His Majesty's forces. It was also suggested that the town provide the above to all families of local enlisted men who were not employees of the companies. (Continued on Page 8)

The Value Of Trees

The value of trees is almost inestimable. On large or small scale arboriculture, the science of the cultivation of trees, can be made to yield dividends in cash, kind and comfort; in cash, because their produce may be sold; in kind, when their maintenance is used to promote the production of other commodities and in comfort, where they are used to satisfy a sense of appreciation of beauty and love of home surroundings.

While much has been done in recent years to stimulate the cultivation of trees in the prairie provinces, it is surprising that much more has not been done when one reflects on the many benefits which trees confer upon mankind.

Consider, for instance, only the direct economic value of trees, that is to say, the produce which they can yield in the form of a cash return to the grower. The direct cash value of trees is so multifarious that a column might well be filled in enumerating the great variety of saleable produce which they can give. To mention only a few of them, reference might be made to timber for building construction, posts for fencing, logs for fuel, withes for wickerwork and baskets, stakes for horticulturists, repair parts for farm equipment and fruits and saps for human and animal nourishment.

When one reflects on the variety of return possible from the growth of trees it is surprising that there are not more farmers growing them as a cash crop. Many of the things enumerated above could be sold for cash on the prairies and many of these products used on the farms on which they are grown, thus saving the necessity for cash expenditure to acquire them.

Needed On Every Farm

Fence posts and fuel, for instance, are a necessity on every farm. A few acres planted to quick growing trees of the right type, properly tended and intelligently harvested, would provide these two essentials for the grower in perpetuity.

While the direct cash value of trees grown on the farm may be great, they may also have an even greater indirect cash value where they are used to provide shelter for other crops and for livestock, to prevent soil erosion and drifting and to harbor and conserve moisture. Even where not a single tree is quick grown for fuel or for fencing, a shelter belt can be used to immense advantage as an aid to the cultivation of vegetables and fruits, to protect, and furnish moisture for, cereal and other field crops, and as a shelter for horses, cattle and sheep they have a value that is almost incalculable.

The use of trees as an adjunct to diversified agriculture is a necessity, and without them, it would be difficult to make any farm a self-sustaining unit.

But trees can be made to yield dividends in a form other than dollars and cents, and there are many who would be willing to say that their intangible value is even greater than that measured by the yardstick of currency returns. Reference, of course, is made to the influence which trees have in the promotion of love of home, in the sense of satisfaction which they bring to those who grow them and live with them, in their ability to satisfy man's yearning for the beautiful and the appeal they have to the aesthetic side of man's nature.

An Alluring Prospect

The appearance of a group of farm buildings on a prairie knoll without a tree to soften their outlines or the verdure of shrubs to anchor them to earth and blend them with the surrounding landscape leaves an impression on the spectator of something vital missing from the scene. And yet there are many such.

A structure similar to that just depicted cannot be called by any other name than a "house"—a place to get away from as often as possible. The place where the dwelling is surrounded by a shelter belt with graceful trees attracting songbirds and enclosing a garden well stocked with fruits, flowers and vegetables, must be dignified by the name of "home"—a place which beckons and allures.

The more farm homes, as distinguished from houses, there are on the prairies, the more permanence there will be to citizenship, the more pride there will be in the community, the more stability there will be in the great industry of the west—agriculture, and these things spell the welfare of the country.

By all means, let us have more trees.

A Little Polish History

Marvellous Powers Of Recuperation Shown After The World War

When Poland was set up at the end of the World War the area it took over had lost 1,800,000 buildings, 2,000,000 cattle, 1,000,000 horses, 1,500,000 sheep and goats. Half of all its bridges—7,500—were destroyed, as well as 940 railway stations. All of the rolling stock of the railways in Russian Poland had been stolen, as well as 4,229 electric motors and 3,847 tooling machines.

More completely devastated than any country except Belgium, Poland had 11,000,000 acres of farm land put out of use and lost 6,000,000 acres of forest. Her textile industry was smashed, foundries and steel works shut down. War with Bolshevik Russia lasted two years after the general peace.

Not until 1920 did Pilsudski insure Polish independence by crushing Russia's invasion; not until 1920 was Poland's political regime stable and its budget balanced. Thus Poland had only 13 years of reconstruction. Ten of them were years of bitter, world-wide depression. In these years:

Poland reduced illiteracy from 33 per cent. to 15 per cent. In the regions formerly held by Russia, where 80 per cent. were illiterate, all but 18 per cent. had been taught to read. Poland had 15 times as many schools as before the war, had 30,000 elementary schools that enrolled 5,000,000 students, 2,000 high schools, 27 universities.

Besides an army, she had built a navy of 18 warships; built a merchant marine from nothing to 112,600 tons; built the port of Gdynia on the Baltic from a town of 400 in 1923 to one of 150,000 in 1939; purchased 6,000,000 acres from large landowners to create 700,000 new farms in a broad and progressive program of land distribution.

Her population had increased more rapidly than any in Europe; by 1929 her wheat and rye production surpassed her pre-war average. Poland was Europe's third largest producer of crude oil, the world's third largest producer of zinc. She had rebuilt her steel industry to eighth largest in Europe, had laid 823 miles of railroads, built 6,750 hydro-electric plants. And although her impoverished peasantry constituted a problem that no intelligent Pole denied, farm wealth had steadily increased; Poland ranked fifth among the world's powers in horses, eighth in cattle, fifth in pigs.

Rate of increase in her productive capacity was more remarkable than its quantitative increase; between 1932 and 1938 coal production jumped 25 per cent.; steel production 35 per cent.; zinc production 15 per cent.; cement production 50 per cent.

Heartbroken and embittered, Poland's leaders faced more than the loss of their country at the railway station to the destination that they had to leave.

The Republic was dead. In its 20 years of life it had grown despite the fact that it had only a period between 1926 and 1929, some 30 months at most, of prosperity. The men who divided it talked of the injustice of the treaty of Versailles. Time.

Humor And The War

Laughter An Important Asset In Job Of Winning The War

Sir Seymour Hicks, the veteran actor, radiating his particular brand of intimate charm over the microphone in a talk on humor and the war, said that laughter was an important asset in the job of winning a war and one which the Nazis conspicuously haven't got. The English have it, and they may need it before they will win one, which everyone here sees more and more as a lineup of the forces of decency against those of thugdom—London correspondent of the New Yorker.

The Royal Oak

British Sailors Have Attached Ill-Omen To The Name

British sailors have attached an ill omen to the name Royal Oak ever since the Dutch sailed up the Medway in 1667 and burned the first of the line.

The battleship sunk recently was the 11th Royal Oak in the Royal Navy—a commemoration of the Oak Tree at Boscombe, Shropshire, in which the fugitive King Charles II, hid after the battle of Worcester in 1651.

Within a month of being commissioned in 1916, the vessel was in action at Jutland, next in line after the Iron Duke, flagship of the British fleet in that battle.

Other Royal Oaks have been unfortunate in war.

In 1778 a Royal Oak was one of the heaviest sufferers in a battle with American revolutionaries and the French.

The recent Spanish civil war brought misfortune to the battleship when the scene of a social scandal injured when an anti-aircraft shell fell on her deck during a Spanish Nationalist bombardment of Valencia February 24, 1937.

Eleven years ago the Royal Oak was the scene of a social scandal which resulted in the conviction of two senior officers by court martial and retirement on half pay of Rear Admiral Bernard St. George Collard. The officers were punished for violating naval regulations in protesting the conduct of the admiral, who was accused of "uncontrollable fits of temper" and of insulting members of the ship's company who were not in a position to reply.

In December, 1925, a sabotage attempt was discovered during the refitting of the Royal Oak.

Failure of her electric system caused a short circuit. A sail pin one-eighth of an inch in diameter had pierced a two-inch cable connecting the control tower of the battleship and the dockyard station.

Canadian Red Cross Society Tells How They Should Be Knit

Knitters are asked by the Canadian Red Cross Society to knit tightly, firmly and plainly. As washing facilities are not so handy in wartime, socks must be made to endure long wear and a great amount of strain. Heelless socks are not practical, officials say, because they would not prove comfortable in a long day's wear. Heather mixtures are most popular in woolen socks, although a bright thread included in a plain color might add a bit of color to a soldier's existence and also aid in identification of a man's own socks.

It takes 4½ ounces of 4-play fingering knit on No. 11 needles to make a pair of socks with an 11-inch foot length, which is the regulation size set out by the society.

Another Worry

Entomologists In Alberta Advise Campaign Against Hessian Fly

Another pest has reared its head in Alberta wheat fields, according to Prof. E. H. Strickland, department of entomology, University of Alberta, and steps should be taken immediately to stamp it out.

The new pest—the Hessian fly—was noticed first at Kinleith in 1938 and in 1939, 350 square miles of farmland were infested. It does not bother oats or broom grass. The fly maggots, hatched in June, suck the sap from the wheat stem and the stem bends over sharply when heading out. Damage to infested fields this year varied from five to 30 per cent. causing an average reduction in yield of about 10 per cent. Quality was lowered by one or two grades.

Premier Of Portugal Refers To The Centuries-Old Ties

Premier Antonio De Oliveira Salazar said Germany reaffirmed Portugal's neutral position but added that his country would adhere to its centuries-old friendship with Great Britain.

Speaking before the National Assembly (lower house), Premier Salazar said Germany informed Lisbon at the outset of the war that Berlin would respect the territory of Portugal and her possessions if this country remained neutral.

"Great Britain asked nothing of us, but we would fail our conscience if we did not reaffirm the sentiments of friendship and loyalty to the British alliance."

A New Wartime Election Bill Is Now Being Drafted

Ottawa.—A wartime election bill is being drafted. It was learned, to be ready when parliament re-assembles, probably in January. The object of the bill will be to ensure, in case of a general federal election, that each soldier on active service shall have his vote counted in the constituency in which he was domiciled before he enlisted.

Many observers here express the view that the Dominion government may feel called upon to appeal to the electors before another meeting of parliament. In that case the present law would be in effect which requires a voter to vote in the polling subdivision in which he was domiciled. Soldiers who are away from their homes will have to return if they are to vote.

The contents of the new draft bill is a closely guarded secret but is designed to meet some of the objections which caused such controversy over the 1917 khaki election was conducted.

One objection to the 1917 act was that voters in the army might, in certain circumstances, leave it to election officials to decide to which constituencies their votes were to be allocated. It was claimed this practice was abused.

The new bill, it is understood, will propose that each enlisted man state his last personal address before he was mobilized and this would decide the constituency to which his vote would go. The vote would be taken wherever the soldier was serving on election day and forwarded to his home constituency.

Provisions are also proposed to speed up counting of the soldier vote as compared with the practice in the 1917 election. The draft bill will be submitted to parliament early in the coming session, it is understood.

Tourist Business

Will Make Increased Efforts To Increase Traffic Next Year

Ottawa.—A greatly increased effort to attract American tourist business to Canada next year became a probability as a result of a conference between Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, and a delegation representing various tourist, hotel and transportation organizations.

The delegation urged the government to increase its vote to the Canadian travel bureau to $500,000 next year, compared to $315,000 this year.

Mr. Howe assured the delegation the department would meet any increase in effort by the tourist bureaus. If they all put on a special drive for business, the government would do likewise.

For Allied Support

Council Bluffs, Ia.—William Jeffers of the Union Pacific railroad declared here, "we must make no mistake about it—there is a war in Europe and it is up to the American people to support the allies whether we like it or not."

Says Victory For Allies Is Necessary For Security Of U.S.

Washington.—A Vermont Republican told the United States senate that victory for Great Britain and France in the Second Great War is "necessary for the peace and security of the United States."

Debate on the neutrality measure was thrown into a brief flurry of excitement when Warren R. Austin interrupted a speaker to declare that there was no reason to hide the fact of the arms embargo would aid the Allies.

Possibility of Canada and British or French lands in the western hemisphere coming under the subjugation of totalitarian aggression was held out as a menace to this country by Senator Austin.

By a victory for the Allies, Austin said he meant: "The stopping of aggression, the stopping of penetration of our country with the ideas that undermine our government, the stopping of events that might lead to occupation of Canada, the islands off our coast and of Latin-America by totalitarian nations in efforts to dominate the world."

Gold From Russia

Seventeen Tons Said To Have Been Shipped To Germany

London.—A British government spokesman gave official support to reports that Russia has been sending gold to Germany.

Sir Alfred Knox, Conservative, asked in the House of Commons whether the government's attention had been drawn to the fact that a consignment of 17½ tons of gold, had been transferred by the Soviet government to Germany.

Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, replied: "Yes, sir. The foreign secretary has reason to believe that this report is not without foundation."

The press has printed repeated reports that Germany was receiving Russian gold under a deal by which she ordered withdrawal of Germans from the Baltic area.

The 17½ tons of gold mentioned in the House of Commons would be worth about $17,024,000 at the United States treasury price of $35 an ounce or $13,792,040 at the Bank of England's price of $33.85 an ounce.

Gold stocks of the Netherlands Bank have increased about 8,000,000 guilders—$4,200,000—during the past month, and the Amsterdam newspaper De Telegraaf said the increase was caused by gold shipments from an eastern country. It was presumed Berlin was sending the gold to Amsterdam to establish credit.

Annexed To Germany

Adolf Hitler Announces Absorption Of Polish Provinces

Berlin.—Adolf Hitler announced the formal annexation of Pomerania, Posen and Polish Upper Silesia, conquered Polish provinces, to the reich.

Two new administrative districts were created by a decree signed Oct. 8. These are West Prussia and Posen.

For each district one governor will be appointed. The seat of the West Prussian governor will be Danzig, which Hitler incorporated into Germany Sept. 1 when the German army marched into Poland. Posen will be the capital of the district of that name.

Vessel Grounded

London.—The 5,994-ton Blue Star cargo boat Ionic successfully dodged submarines on a voyage across the Atlantic from South America only to run aground and break her back in the western coast of England.

The vessel ran on a sandbank in a thick fog. The four passengers, 11 officers and 40 men aboard were rescued.

Famous Chemist

London.—Sir William Jackson Pope, 69, chemist, who enabled the Allies near the close of the Great War to produce mustard, gas in larger quantities than the enemy, died here recently.

Buy B.C. Lumber

Large Orders Received From Britain Placed With Mills

Vancouver.—Orders for 125,000, 000 feet of lumber a month for shipment during October, November and December have been placed with British Columbia lumber mills by the British government, according to J. A. Humbird, president of the Seaboard Lumber Sales Co., Limited.

"The British Columbia industry is ready to cut the three months' order but the problem is securing ships," the sales agency president said. "Under the new arrangements the British government supplies the ships for this business and we have no control over the movement of the vessels which operate in each case under admiralty license."

Humbird said the orders total approximately the same as shipments to Great Britain during the previous three-month period. The average price obtained by the mills will be 25 cents a thousand feet less than the price before war broke out.

"There is no possibility of any increase in the price of our lumber this year," he said. "The industry here has no thought of asking, nor has Britain any intention of paying, extra prices simply on account of the war."

Humbird, whose company represents 31 British Columbia sawmills, said because of lack of ships, "lumber already is beginning to pile up on some of the wharves of our sawmills in British Columbia, but we hope that it will not be necessary to curtail operations seriously between now and the end of the year."

Guard Against Air Raids

Precautions Have Been Carried Out Across Canada

Ottawa.—Thorough study of air raid precautions has been carried out across Canada by the department of pensions and national health since the start of the war, it was announced here.

Departmental officers visited the Maritimes, Quebec and British Columbia where provincial committees were established. The Dominion department acted in advisory capacity to the committees.

The department also has assisted the provincial authorities with first aid materials, decontamination clothing and antiaircraft stretchers. Fire fighting squads were supplied with asbestos suits.

In addition, the laboratories of the department of mines and natural resources conducted a series of investigations. Three shifts were formed to obtain information on the production of activated carbon for gas masks.

Special officers of the immigration department have been placed along the international boundary to prevent entry of enemy aliens.

German Air Attacks

Bombing Planes Are No Effective Match For Warships

London.—British military observers, surveying the effects of sharp German air attacks on Great Britain's naval units, were satisfied the bombing plane is no effective match for warships with anti-aircraft protection.

The loss of at least eight German planes in two British naval bases was declared to be out of all proportion to the small amount of damage inflicted on British ships.

The air ministry announced that not more than half of the 14 German planes which raided the Firth of Forth were believed to have returned to their bases.

Typhoon Sweeps Japan

Tokyo.—Newspaper despatches from Kagoshima reported 36 persons dead, 33 missing and scores injured in a typhoon which swept the southern tip of the Japanese island of Kyushu.

COMMANDS FIRST BRIGADE

Lieut.-Col. A. A. Smith, M.C., of Winona, Ont., possessor of a Victoria record in the last war, has been appointed Commander of the 1st Infantry Brigade of Canada's first overseas division.

Visit Canada House

The King and Queen Interested In Work Carried On

London.—The King and Queen called on Canada House to see how the Canadian headquarters in Britain is grappling with wartime problems. It was an informal visit.

The high commissioner and Mrs. Massey showed their Majesties around but the territory was already familiar to them. The Queen was seen to turn to the uniformed monarch several times, remarking on seeing pictures and exhibits: "Do you remember... that brings it back, doesn't it, dear?"

The Queen took a mother's interest in the gigantic piles of baby clothes and blankets which Mrs. Massey's team of women volunteers have collected for needy evacuated families. These women are now amassing thousands of blankets, pairs of socks and other articles of clothing which are being sent here by Dominion women's organizations. The articles will be used for the Canadian expeditionary forces.

The staff had been requested to stay at work, so in several department typists looked up in surprise to find the King and Queen looking over their shoulders.

Bans Foreign Subs

Are Not Permitted To Enter United States Territorial Waters

Washington.—President Roosevelt decreed that submarines of belligerent nations could not enter United States ports or territorial waters, except when forced to do so by storms or other "acts of God."

The ban included both commercial and naval undersea craft.

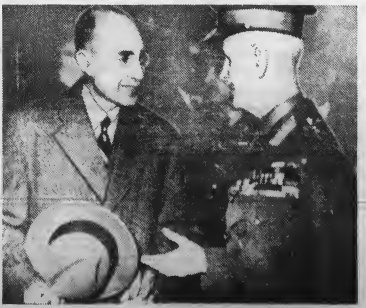

The president's order was in the form of a proclamation putting into effect section eight of the neutrality act. This relates to the use of American ports and waters by submarines and armed merchant vessels of belligerents. Only submarines were affected by the proclamation. Armed merchant vessels may still enter American ports and waters.

The president said he found that a ban of submarines would "serve to maintain peace between the United States and foreign states, to protect its citizens, and to promote the security of the United States."

A Spot Of Tea

Ottawa.—In war as well as peace, Britons must knock off in the late afternoon for a spot of tea. The 50 members of British war missions in office in the parliament buildings are being served tea daily by the parliamentary restaurant staff. The British government is even recompensing the Canadian government for the tea service, it was reported.

Will Require Whole Resources Of Empire To Win The War

London.—A high military officer called for harnessing of "the whole resources of the British Empire" to prepare for the anticipated onslaught of 100-German divisions.

Coinciding with this call was increased activity in Whitehall in preparation for discussions to be held soon between ministers from the different dominions and the British government.

It is becoming increasingly evident to observers here that it is planned to turn the whole empire into a vast arsenal and training ground for hundreds of thousands of men.

"If we ever expect to win this war there can be no doubt that the resources of the whole empire must be developed to the limit as between the three fighting services," the same reliable military source declared.

It would be a tragic folly, the spokesman said, to imagine that hostilities will continue in their present "on-leash" manner.

Although fighting on the Western Front continues on an "experimental" basis limited to reconnaissance and minor attacks, nothing can eliminate the possibility Germany will make full use of her mighty army before "throwing in the sponge."

"As long as Germany has 100 divisions of trained men," this military source continued, "the only way to prepare against their eventual use is to harness the whole resources of the British empire. It would be suicidal to shut our eyes simply because nothing is happening now on the Western Front."

This military source in a survey of the past week's operations referred to the lack of large scale operations on the Western Front and expressed the opinion Germany has only six more weeks before winter weather would prevent mass attacks over a wide area with mechanized troops.

Even if there should be a stalemate on the Western Front this winter it would not be a bad thing for Britain and France. It would give them, particularly Britain, time to develop their full military power.

It is becoming increasingly clear that the British and French governments do not care when Germany strikes the west—every day saved is a gain for them. It is another day gained for the naval blockade to tighten the economic grip on Germany and another day to harness the resources and the potential striking power of Britain and the dominions.

"We are one week nearer winter," the spokesman declared. "Each week makes the chances of German large scale operations that much less."

The Royal Oak

Rear-Admiral Blagrove Went Down With Torpedoed Ship

London.—Rear-Admiral H. E. C. Blagrove, newly appointed superintendent of the Chatham dockyard, was disclosed, went down with the battleship Royal Oak when she was torpedoed by a German submarine in Scapa Flow.

Admiral Blagrove, 52, had been appointed to the Chatham post Oct. 8. He served during the last war in the battleship Queen Elizabeth.

Revised figures issued by the admiralty showed there were 810 men lost and 124 survivors.

The figures were based on "latest information at the admiralty" and showed 24 officers and 788 men went down with the battleship. Survivors included 57 officers and 387 men.

Ban Firearms

Enemy Aliens Are Forbidden To Possess Weapons Act

Ottawa.—Canada has forbidden enemy aliens to possess firearms, ammunition, dynamite, gunpowder or any other explosive—the regulations under the War Measures Act have been published in the Canada Gazette.

Preface to the order-in-council setting forth the regulations says the minister of justice represented that the general provisions of the criminal code respecting aliens and firearms were inadequate at present.

Enemy aliens possessing the forbidden articles are required to deliver them to a peace officer within 10 days of publication of the regulations.

Turkey Joins With Britain And France In Democratic Front

London.—The Turkish republic, guardian of the Dardanelles and key nation of the Balkan bloc, joined Great Britain and France in the democratic front by signing a 15-year treaty of mutual assistance.

Announcing conclusion of the agreement to the House of Commons, Prime Minister Chamberlain said it "solid testimony of the determination of the three governments to pursue a long-term policy of collaboration."

The pact binds the three nations to place all their armed strength at disposal of one another in event of armed aggression. But a protocol stipulates Turkey need not be required to fight Russia.

The new pact replaced the "gentleman's agreement" which had been operating since May 12 of this year, but its signature at this time, when Britain and France are at war against Germany and when the political and economic life of Europe is in a state of flux and alarm, has deep significance, competent diplomatic observers said.

"It restores all my faith in international goodwill and the sacredness of the pledged word," said a high government official.

"For a nation to live up to its contract is almost a rarity to-day. It seemed paradoxical for Turkey, once known as the 'mad dog of Europe,' and Germany ally in the first Great War, but since then to her present pre-eminent position among European states by Kemal Ataturk—to demonstrate this steadfastness to international propriety."

The treaty does not mean that Turkey will enter the present war as long as hostilities are confined to their present dimensions. But it certainly implies that Turkey will adopt a "benevolent neutrality" toward Britain and France.

Here are some of the strategical and practical advantages Britain and France have gained according to British diplomatic quarters:

1. It should have great protective value to Egypt, Palestine, Iraq, and in fact the whole "helfine of empire" through the eastern Mediterranean to the Far East.

2. It implies that Britain and France will have unrestricted use of the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus, the Black Sea, and the Aegean Sea.

3. It should have a steady effect on the whole Balkan bloc, effectively locking the valley of the Danube against military or economic penetration by Germany. Turkey has shown the way to her Balkan neighbors, giving them courage to stand up against German demands at a time when they sorely need such an example.

4. It should have a decided effect on Italian neutrality, because Italian intervention on the side of Germany would bring Turkey into the struggle automatically.

5. The British government does not regard the pact as a blow to Russia, no matter how hard a blow to Germany it may be. It doesn't prevent Turkey and Russia from renewing negotiations for a complementary treaty, nor does it endanger the long friendship between the two nations.

In fact Britain would like to see Turkey and Russia come to amicable terms, because their agreement would form a diplomatic bridge between Britain and Russia—the engine of Europe.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

ATTENDING a meeting of the general committee of the Red Cross Society, the thought came to mind how in times of emergency or national crisis people are drawn together for the common good. At this meeting there were representatives of almost every organizations in Coleman, who probably would not meet together on any other occasion except when the need arises for united effort by all sections of the community. Among those present were delegates appointed by the Italian, Polish, Ukrainian and Slavic Societies, all willing to carry on their share to raise funds for the national campaign to raise $3,000,000 in Canada for Red Cross work. It is work that is carried on for people of all countries, which thereby makes a strong appeal to the better nature of the people at large. We have no doubt that Coleman will raise its quota towards the national fund, and that it will also respond in generous measure in helping the War Work Committee, which has as its special duty the making of socks, sweaters, and other articles for the soldiers, as well as hospital garments, bandages, etc.

CANADIAN people, as subjects of the British Commonwealth, are fortunate in comparison with their fellow subjects in Great Britain. We do not have to evacuate our homes in the cities and move to the country for fear of being bombed from the air or showered with poisonous gas. It should bring home to all the fact that in place of the sacrifices which people over there have to endure, our part is small in comparison. The atrocities which the Polish people of Warsaw suffered from the German forces is beyond description, and shows that international rules in carrying on war are absolutely thrown into the discard by the German high command. No wonder Britain and France determined that Hitlerism has to be swept from Europe.

WHEN you are hard up for a subject of conversation, the weather can always be commented on as a means of letting off steam. Wintry weather descended on Alberta with one fell swoop on Sunday and Monday, causing everyone to step along in lively manner, and start bringing up the storm windows from the cellar. Cars were stalled on highways, busses were hours late, but the good old reliable railroads so far have kept up their schedules. It is the type of weather that puts vim and energy into the body, which is the reason that people of these western provinces enjoy so heartily their winter pastimes, such as hockey, curling, skiing and other sports. Its a great country!

IN years past an expression such as this—"I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier"—was frequently heard. True, no mother wishes to sacrifice her son to bloody war, yet if she has pride in him she would not like him to show the "white feather." There is an immutable law of nature determining that the fittest shall survive, and it applies to nations as to individuals. Nations are made up of millions of individuals, and if a nation becomes weak to the extent that it cannot resist aggressors, then it must go under and become a servile state to a stronger power.

QUITE a large number of Canada's young men will again take up arms for a cause they believe just. There is no compulsion used to secure recruits for Canada's active service forces. Why do young men enlist when war threatens or has been declared? There are perhaps several reasons, yet the principal is because they feel the urge to stand up for their homeland and if needs be go to foreign lands. It was so in other wars in which the Empire has been engaged. Canada never shirked for the general feeling prevails that if we enjoy the benefits accruing as citizens of the British Commonwealth of Nations, we must take our share in the responsibilities entailed. Young men from Coleman who have enlisted, many of them, may have fathers who twenty-five years ago volunteered for active service. It is in their blood, and they are to be commended. It is the duty of those who remain at home to do all in their power to see that they are not forgotten; that parcels of comforts are sent regularly to them, for nothing is so welcome to a soldier on active service. It is gratifying to note that in addition to the Red Cross Society in Coleman, the Legion Auxiliary has set itself the duty of sending comforts to Coleman's soldiers, and their appeal should meet with ready and generous response.

THOUGH the war will occupy the foremost place in our minds, we cannot let down on sports, for they maintain the morale of the people. That is why sports are encouraged even among soldiers at the Front. So, as winter approaches, young people, and older too, are anxiously scanning the hockey horizon, wishing that play had already commenced. Coleman will again do its best to ice an Allan Cup team, and the local executive have been strengthening the team in anticipation of as keen a season of intense rivalry as experienced in the years during which Coleman Canadians have played in the Alberta senior league. All hockey enthusiasts in the Pass towns will wish them luck in the quest for the Allan Cup, under the coaching of "Duke" Keats. Also a word of credit to the executive who perchance lie awake at nights pondering on the imponderables of this great Canadian winter sport.

GRATIFYING indeed is the result of the Quebec provincial election in that Canadian unity in the pursuance of the war is not endangered. It shows that the great French-Canadian province is determined to stand by Canada and the Empire, and that political opportunism will not be tolerated during an Empire crisis. Well done, Quebec! Hitler's debacle should be next in line.

DUE to the war, the export market for Canadian apples in Great Britain is almost nil. This leaves the growers of Nova Scotia and British Columbia in a bad fix, and in order to try and mitigate the loss to a considerable extent, the Canadian government has launched a national merchandising plan to develop a home market for this surplus apple crop. At a regular meeting it was decided that the members should work for a fund to be known as Coleman Soldiers Comfort Fund. The committee appointed includes Mrs. W. H. Garner, Mrs. J. C. Richards, Mrs. J. Morrison, Mrs. T. Mitchell, Mrs. J. Hadley, Mrs. Harold Turner and Mrs. Howard Davies are president and secretary respectively of the Auxiliary.

Red Cross Supplies For Knitting

Mrs. W. L. Rippon, convener of the War Work committee of the Red Cross Society, received 10-lbs. of wool from the provincial headquarters, for making up into socks. Instructions are available for those desiring to help, also if there is a knitting machine available, the committee would appreciate knowing of it.

Mrs. Hugh Dunlop calls attention to an incorrect report in last week's issue, wherein it was stated she had sent a letter to the local branch of the Red Cross asking if she could organize a United church unit to assist in the work. No letter was sent as stated, so The Journal makes this correction, in order that the record may be kept straight.

St. Paul's Ladies Aid have set Sat. Dec. 9 as the date of their annual bazaar, which you are to keep in mind.

Mrs. Alex. Cornett returned home last week after several months residence at Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Graham were Calgary visitors over the week-end.

loss to apples growers in any event can hardly be prevented because of the conditions arising out of the war, but Canadian people can help by using as many apples as possible in various forms of diet. The Dominion department of agriculture points out that a market must be developed within the next few weeks if serious losses to our growers and resultant hardship to whole communities are to be avoided.

If a newspaper editor were to read all the free publicity stuff that comes by mail, he would spend a few hours every week on it. That is why so much of it goes direct to the waste paper basket, for it brings no revenue whatever, and is an effort to get something for nothing, at the expense of the newspapers. So many overlook the important point that a newspaper sells white space, for advertising purposes. That which is really news is always given adequate space.

SOME of the censorship regulations issued to news editors, news associations and radio broadcasting stations appear to border on the ridiculous. One we received this week inclines us to the impression that not having anything else to censor, they (the censors) decided to send out something to let people know there is a censor board.

Coal Is The Source Of All Revenue

IT is the only industry of the Crows Nest Pass towns. On it depends all other lines of business. In men employed, and general business created as a result of coal production from the local mines, it ranks as one of the major industries of Alberta. It pays high taxes in royalties and other levies, and has to meet competition from competitive fuels and competitive markets.

YET improvements in methods and equipment continue to be made in order to ensure the highest quality of steam coal being supplied to railroads, industrial concerns and domestic consumers.

Third Vote of U.M.W.A. Affiliation

Shows 38 Majority of Total 750
Votes Cast. Third Ballot in 18
Months

International and McGillivray companies' mine workers voted for the third time Thursday on the question: "Are you in favor of joining the United Mine Workers of America?" The result was 394 for, 356 against; majority of 38. Five spoiled ballots. On October 10 a vote taken showed 367 for, 307 against. 76 more votes were cast this time, giving a reduced majority of the Oct. 10 vote. With almost evenly divided opinion on whether miners will pay dues to the U.M.W.A. or retain the full status of their local Coleman Miners Association constitutes a problem that will prove controversial, to say the least. At present a two-year agreement is in force between the local association and the companies, dating from April 1. Efforts have been made, following the Oct. 10 vote, to have the U.M.W.A. recognized by the companies, but the pit committees regularly appointed and in compliance with the constitution of Coleman Miners Association continue to act.

Serving The Miner

They were roaring days in that Spring of 1936 when gold was discovered in the Klondike. Transportation was difficult and slow, and the trial of travel took a heavy toll of life. Prices shot sky-high and it was impossible to buy goods or services at anything but prohibitive prices—ham and eggs sold for $1.50 a plate, freight over the 6 miles of the Chilkooot Pass was 50c a pound! Life in the mining fields is different today. Fast efficient mediums of transportation are breaking down the barriers of distance, and to the prospector at Red Lake, to the radiologist at Great Bear Lake and the sold miner at Dawson go the EATON Catalogue pushing back the trade frontiers. Today only a great mail order house like EATON'S can offer to a widely scattered population the large selection of merchandise that is found in the EATON Catalogue. That's why at airports, docks and stations leading to the mines you see mail bags and freight from EATON'S—proof positive of the confidence our distant customers have in us.

Six New Players
Added to Canadians
Hockey Team

New talent is expected to give Coleman Canadians' entry into the Alberta senior hockey league the needed zip and fire necessary to get the team into the provincial play-offs. Six new players at least will sport the Canadians' colors this season. At the helm is Gordon "Duke" Keats, of Edmonton, one of hockey's immortals, and who is expected to weld the team into a real hockey machine. Keats succeeds Mike Kryschuk.

Personnel of the team:

GOAL: Dave Kemp, former pro. Has guarded Canadians' net for past two seasons. "Bud" Wolfe, formerly guarded nets for Calgary and Drumheller teams. Out of organized hockey last year owing to appendicitis operation.

DEFENCE: Dan Sprout, played right wing last year, will probably be converted to defence during absence of injured Jimmy Joyce. Jimmy Joyce, starred on defence for years, will be out for several weeks owing to injured arm. Kwasnie shared defence duties last year. "Barney" Barneski, formerly with Carmen Intermediates who were western Canada runners-up in intermediate ranks this spring.

CENTRES: Bill Fraser and Benny Rediaky with Canadians last year. Bob Luney, member of the senior Timmins, Ontario, team last year. Mike Kowcinek, brother of Dick of Trail Smoke Eaters' fame. Hails from Winnipeg, and has been out of organized hockey for past two years.

RIGHT WINGS: Sid Sturk, capable of playing any position on the front line, was with Canadians last year. Herman Gruhn, played part of last season with Calgary Stampede. Tommy Dunn, a young junior from Edmonton Canadians who graduates to senior ranks for the first time.

LEFT WINGS: "Sandy" Sanderson and "Bunny" McKillop, who played starring roles with Canadians last year.

Average age of the players is 24 years. The executive are still dicker with a well-known defenceman and if successful in signing him will have all berths filled.

In addition to the above named players, Coach Keats will inspect one or two players of the local junior team that won the provincial B junior championship. First ice practice will be held on Nov. 1 at Lethbridge arena.

From Station Agent
to Vice-President

A. E. Warren, vice-president of Canadian National Railways, whose death was recorded last week, was C.P.R. agent at Fernie in the early days and worked for A. B. Triton in the old London & Liverpool store, states the Fernie Free Press. During his residence in Fernie he married Miss Margaret Hackett, daughter of the proprietor of the old Victoria Hotel. He was born at Taunton, Somerset, England, June 7, 1874, and entered the employ of the C.P.R. in Winnipeg in 1889, as office boy. In 1904 he joined the Canadian Northern Railway. He had a distinguished career, rising from the humblest to the highest office during his fifty years of railroading.

A Good Suggestion

It has been suggested that a public concert be held for the men of Coleman who have enlisted in the various military units, and a souvenir presented to each.

"Duke" Kwasnie
Named Coach Trail
Smoke Eaters

Welcome news was received this week when it became known Jack "Duke" Kwasnie had been appointed coach of Trail Smoke Eaters, present world champions.

He piloted Trail Tigers last year to the provincial junior title, losing out to Edmonton Roamers in the inter-provincial series. Jack was instrumental in bringing Coleman Canadians to the forefront in provincial intermediate circles, winning the western Canada intermediate in 1933-34. For two successive years he piloted them to the provincial senior finals in 1934-35 and 1935-36.

He succeeds Ab. Cronie as coach. While the big stars of the Allan Cup team of 1937 are missing, if Kwasnie has some young and promising material his team will certainly be heard from before the season closes in the Kootenay hockey league.

Our hardy Canadian pilots of the Trans-Canada air lines keep the airways open. On Tuesday, despite the snow and low temperature, a plane was heard—but not seen—wending its way westward.

Jack Nelson, of the Calgary Highlanders, is visiting his parents here for a week. He was one of the first to enlist, and looks smart in the Highlanders' uniform. Jack says his job at present is in the canteen.

A story of how an air-minded young Canadian crossed the Atlantic at his own expense to join the Royal Air Force was told in the Evening News.

The youngster, from Hamilton, Ont., arrived just before the outbreak of war "with a pipette in his pocket." He was accepted and is now wearing the uniform of an acting pilot officer.

Britain's Queen

Example Set To Her People Not Lost On The Empire

Better and more broadly than perhaps ever before, Britain's Queen represents Britain's womanhood. Titular commandant of the women's fighting services, Elizabeth graciously accepted the presidency of W.V.S. (Women's Voluntary Service), putting her on top of the female non-fighting services. She was already a typical British wife. The King was in uniform (Marshal of the Royal Air Force), and she no longer accompanied him wherever he went. She had her own visiting, inspecting, encouraging jobs to do. On a 24-hour schedule, from which future appointments had been dropped, she simply went where she thought she ought to go, appearing at one W.A.T.S. (Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service) post which happened to be temporary. And she typified lonely British motherhood, for her two daughters had also been evacuated. She stood it as long as she could, then flew to Scotland to see them. No British Queen had ever spent a month more like the month spent by her subjects, and the parallel and the example was not lost on the Empire.—From Time.

BE SLENDER AGAIN BY CUTTING CALORIES

LOSE TWO POUNDS A WEEK

Her favorite suit, but it won't stay fastened—so many pounds has Mrs. Plump gained!

And no wonder—after a lazy summer of porch life, too many high-calorie foods.

For if you eat 1,000 more calories a day than you need, you gain two pounds a week. And often just a few changes in your eating habits will give that naturally plump look.

By switching from tomato juice (50 calories a cup) to six prunes (50 each)—by taking a prune sundae (400) instead of ginger ale (56)— but you can eat nearly 600 calories to your day's total.

Why can you switch back again so easily. Follow your calorie chart and LOSE two pounds a week.

Are you tempted to have for lunch a cup of creamed corn soup, a pork chop, 1/2 cup mashed potatoes, 1/2 cup of chocolate pudding? Think hard: there are 700 calories in that meal.

Try instead 1 cup consommé a lamb chop, 2 chopped beets, 4 1/2 cup apple now. Only 275 calories—and satisfying and healthful, too.

Start now to be youthfully slim again. Our 32-page booklet gives 2-weeks' low-calorie menus easy to adapt to family meals. Has a calorie chart showing 100-calorie portions, a 3-day liquid diet to start reducing. Menus for gaining.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "The New Way To A Youthful Figure" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

The following booklet is also available at 15 cents: "110—Hand-Made Gift Novelties."

"Did you see that, dad? That conjurer changed half-a-dollar into a silk handkerchief."

"That's nothing. Your mother can change a five dollar bill into a small hat."

Italian Ambassador

Something About The Diplomat Who Represents Italy In Britain

Giuseppe Bastianini, new Italian ambassador to Great Britain, is an ex-newspaperman who became Fascism's youngest diplomat.

He was only 33, and fresh from quick promotions in the diplomatic service, when he was appointed ambassador to Poland.

Bastianini works the quiet way. His voice carries more weight than probably any other man in Italian foreign affairs. He is introspective and a fine student of international politics. He is soft-spoken and reserved, except when aroused. Then he is volcanic. He knows how to talk. Better still, he knows when to keep quiet. He is conspicuously inconspicuous.

His clothes are of the moment, even inclined to be natty. He likes well-fitting garments, expensive hats and colorful ties. He is of medium height and has a boyish face. He is 40, but looks 30.

He was born at Perugia, March 8, 1899. He started out to be a farmer but the lure of newspaper work proved more exciting. When the World War ended, Bastianini took up the cudgel for Fascism and took part in much of the bloody fights that preceded Benito Mussolini's dictatorship.

At 22, he served as assistant secretary-general of the Fascist party, which position he held for two years. From 1923 to 1927, he was secretary-general of Fascist abroad.

In the latter part of 1927, he was appointed under-secretary for agriculture. And then, without any diplomatic experience at all, he was named minister to Tangiers. Later to Lisbon and Athens. In 1932, he was appointed Ambassador to Poland.

Bastianini has had more contact with British diplomacy than any other Italian. It was he who induced Great Britain to accept Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. He is highly respected abroad and is now regarded as the key to link Italy with the Allies.

His intimates call him "Bastianini"—"Little Beast."

Ruins Of Warsaw

Hitler Gazes On Scenes Of Desolation Of His Own Making

The Russian conquerors never held their triumphs in the cities they had sacked and burned. They tied the vanquished leaders to the wheels of their chariots, put the prisoners of war in chains, and then marched through the garlanded streets of their own capitals. The victory parade of the ancients were not pretty spectacles from all accounts, but even the barbarians balked at celebrating their conquests on the spot, amid the scenes of death and devastation they had caused.

Hitler saw Warsaw yesterday. He looked upon the bombed hospitals, the shattered houses, the gutted schools, the piles of wreckage in the beautiful old market place. He beheld the desolation of a proud city, mercilessly attached to the landmarks and palaces of the forgotten past.

No doubt he glimpsed—from a safe distance—the bitter faces of the people, men, and women who fought on for their city with heroic fury after their cause was lost and their country crushed under his military machine. For the third time, not counting Memel, Danzig and Bratislava, he took possession of a conquered capital, but Warsaw is in a different category from the others. It is the first reduced by war to a conqueror gazed upon the fallen city and upon his encroaching neighbor beyond the Vistula, battering on his conquest, his triumph must have been darkened by the thought of the price he had paid for this ruin.

The flight to Warsaw was not a happy prologue to the Reichstag speech. Hitler's sense of timing must have failed him, or he would not have focused attention on this too vivid reminder of what a Hitler peace means.—New York Times.

Ontario Town Will Stick To Its Name Of Swastika

The people of the community of Swastika, Ontario, are loyal to freedom and to democracy, but they do not want the name of their town changed. They point out that their "Swastika" is named after the ancient symbol, the lucky cross, that it has no connection with Germany or Hitler or Nazism, that it is an original and pleasant name, and that it suits them. They are right. It would be no more than a silly exhibition of ill humor, and lack of humor, to change such a name. It would be as mad an idea as any of Herr Hitler's to think of changing the name of everything and every place that Hitler appropriated to his own use.—Porcupine Advance.

TOT'S DOUBLE-BREADED FROCK

By Anne Adams

Even a tiny tot can get dressed "all by herself" in this darling little double-breasted dress designed by Anne Adams. It's tailored and trim as can be—and so easy to stitch up from Pattern 4246, with the Sewing Instructor to guide your needle.

The princess lines fit with a dash and, incidentally, they're just about the quickest type to sew, with no waistline seaming. There's a saucy flare to the skirt. Let the ruffled or rick-rack trimmed collar cross over or end short. And use gay buttons in two even rows, or make a side-buttoning from collar to hem.

A cherry cotton print will be perfect for early Fall, and a few yards of bright plaid or checked wool will make a smart frock for wintry days.

Pattern 4246 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size takes 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ruffling. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

An Honor System

A new honor system, previously tried in New Zealand, is to be initiated in Melbourne, Australia. Prisoners are taken to fenceless areas and put to forest clearing. There will be a minimum number of guards.

"I think it's a disgusting state of affairs when one reads of communists earning more than cabinet ministers!"

"Oh, I dunno. On the whole they're funnier!"

The western pronghorn antelope, alone among all horned creatures, has horns that grow over bony cores and yet sheds them every year.

Florence, Italy, was the site of the first fireworks display on record. The event was during the thirteenth century.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 29

BEVERAGE ALCOHOL AND SOCIAL PROGRESS

Golden text: Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? I Corinthians 6:9. Lesson: Micah 2:9-11; Luke 21:29-31, 34-36; I Corinthians 6:9-11. Devotional reading: Galatians 5:16-24.

Explanations And Comments

Sin and Punishment, Micah 2:9-11. The women of my people are cast out from their pleasant houses; from their young children ye take away my glory for ever, that is, their inheritance in the holy land. The prophet is arraignment the sins of the people of Judah, especially the rapacity of the rich. In this verse nine he seems to imply that the women and children are being sold into captivity. The land is no refuge for such evil doers; they themselves as a just retribution shall be cast out of the land and be driven from the land. Only a prophet who prophesied material prosperity would suit the case who would be and praise their wine and strong drink would be the prophet they wanted.

And as for the human relations which was afterwards to crystallize in the humane legislation of Deuteronomy. But to insist on these things is not the way to popularity as a prophet: it is the false and empty soul who would preach about wine and strong drink—messengers of lies—that would be a welcome prophet to a people like this. ("The Abolition Commentary").

The Transforming Power of Christ, I Corinthians 6:9-11. The unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God. The unrighteous shall have no share in its present privileges and blessings. The kingdom of God is a spiritual kingdom (I Cor. 13:30). "Its blessings and privileges are spiritual; how then could such unspiritual men as those enumerated, whose conduct tended to harden the heart and dull the spiritual insight, have any part in it?" (Dunmore). "Such evil-doers were some of you," Paul wrote, "but you submitted to wash with water by the word of God's service, and were accepted as righteous through the influence of the Holy Spirit, and the working of the Holy Spirit."

Shows Good Will

Jack Miner Sends A Flock Of Geese To Moose Jaw Park

Jack Miner, owner of the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, for many years has wanted to do something along conservation lines for the people of Western Canada. It was through his lecture tours that many sanctuaries were started in the western provinces, especially the Wild Life, Wild Animal Park at Moose Jaw, one of the outstanding city parks in Saskatchewan.

Jack Miner to show his good will has sent some 20 Canada Geese to liberate in this Wild Life display. The geese are all mostly ones that Jack Miner has raised on his famous sanctuary at Kingsville. They all have their wings clipped. The idea is they will come at home on the Moose Jaw Wild Life Park and will raise their young. The young will grow up and fly around and act as decoys to the wild flocks that pass over. The young will migrate south in the fall, but will return with wild ones in the spring, and thus eventually have a haven of rest in Moose Jaw as they do at the present time in Kingsville, at the Miner Game Refuge.

While Jack Miner was 75 years of age on April 10, 1938, yet he is active in doing things of this sort not only around his home but in the Western Provinces.

To Save Ducks

New Kind Of Birdshot Will Prevent Lead Poisoning

A new kind of birdshot, designed to save the lives of ducks, was announced by the American Society for Metals.

Conservation officials have known for many years that there is a considerable and ever-growing toll of ducks that die from lead poisoning, the society said. "Shots fired by hunters often miss their mark. They fall into the marshes where ducks and geese feed and are swallowed by the waterfowl along with their food. Six ordinary No. 6 birdshot prove fatal."

Drs. R. L. Dowdell and R. G. Green of the University of Minnesota have found that a shot made with approximately two per cent magnesium begins to break up within 24 hours after striking moisture. It will not be available commercially until next year.

Due to Confucian belief that the body was sacred, it was not until 1915 that medical dissection of the human body was attempted in the interior of China.

TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

by DR. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

WARS AND EPIDEMICS

It is said that the Persians under Xerxes were defeated in their invasion of Greece by plague and dysentery. In all of the wars from that time to the Great War of 1914-18 disease was as deadly a foe as the munitions of war.

In a recent American book on "Disease in Military Campaigns," Lieut.-Col. Nelson Mercer says that the United States losses in the last war were 58,119 from disease and 50,385 were killed or died of wounds. A large percentage was from the influenza epidemic of 1918. By that time, typhoid had been brought under control and there were only 2,200 cases among more than 4,000,000 soldiers and there were only 200 deaths.

During the Spanish American War, typhoid caused 20,904 cases and 2,188 deaths. That war in which 379 men died in battle, was responsible for 4,789 deaths from disease, most of the troops never reaching Cuba.

Similar stories of epidemics have come down from previous wars. In 1741, because of a typhus epidemic among the Austrian defenders of Prague, the French were able to capture that city. Later Napoleon had to retreat from Moscow because of typhoid, typhus and pneumonia.

In the United States war with Mexico in 1846-7 of 100,000 American soldiers only 1,549 were killed or died of wounds, while 10,886 died of typhoid, dysentery, smallpox, malaria or tropical diseases. In the Civil War, the Union Army lost approximately 200,000 men by disease and 112,000 from wounds.

British Honor

Another Incident Showing That The Word Of A Briton Can Be Trusted

The government of Great Britain has apologized to Iceland because a British air pilot interned there violated his promise and flew away. Moreover, the pilot is being sent back to observe the internment regulations.

This is the expected result of Iceland's protest, because the little northern island trusted the word of the British airman, and a British government believes the word of an enlisted Briton ought to be trustworthy.

It is refreshing to turn to this incident after realizing that the lies of the Nazi Fuehrer, which were responsible for the war, have ridden Nazism out of the court of honest world opinion.

In 1919, to keep her word to Belgium, and is at war now because she promised to defend Poland. Those who think she ought to call off the war because Poland is wrecked should read again the story of the pilot who is compelled to return to internment, that a Briton's word may be trusted still.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Dogs Drafted In Germany—Dogs capable of being trained as messengers will be drafted into the German Army. Owners of such breeds as shepherds, airedales, terriers and boxers were ordered to report them.

Under the title "Food and Life," the U.S. Department of Agriculture's 1939 year book, soon to be published, will deal with food needs of man and animals.

Unnecessary hoarding of money is as much to be deplored at this time as unnecessary hoarding of food. The man with a steady income should spend as in normal times.

Mother: I hope my little boy has been as good as gold all day. Nurse: No. He went off the gold standard about tea-time.

The Sad Pumpkin

A certain little pumpkin
Grew all summer on the vine,
But when fall came that pumpkin
Did most sadly fret and pine;
For all his bigger brothers
Had been picked and stored away,
And the lonely little pumpkin

Then someone picked him, and a prouder
Little pumpkin ne'er was seen
Than this grinning jack-o-lantern,
Made to honor Hallowe'en.—Anon.

Town Council

While the council endorsed the action of the two associations, it was considered wise not to take immediate action until the companies have answered the requests.

A report from Auditor E. D. Battrum was discussed, and it was moved that the secretary write a letter to the company embodying Mr. Battrum's suggestion that a reduction of 20% be made in the prevailing water rates, immediately.

Requests for wood and coal by Mrs.
Deputak, Mrs. Vollendorf and Mrs.
Mary Lukasek were granted.

Application was received from E.
Cicolone, known as C. Gildo, to be placed on the relief roll. Investigation will be made by Constable Antel.
Councillor White presented a copy of the relief agreement between the federal and provincial governments.
This will be read by each councillor, and discussion on it will be made at a later date.
